Torsten Lauschmann

This print publication and companion app offers a suitably wide-ranging introduction to the multi-faceted video, audio, digital, sculptural, kinetic and performative work of Torsten Lauschmann.

Including newly commissioned texts by Sean Cubitt, Esther Leslie, Stewart Morgan, Graham Domke and Steven Bode, it echoes and follows the interests and preoccupations of an artist whose up-to-the-minute technological finesse is bolstered by an equally incisive historical overview. The Startle digital app brings the pages even more to life, triggering video and other content that enhances and extends the featured works.

The Startle publication is co-produced by Dundee Contemporary Arts and Film and Video Umbrella. The accompanying Lauschmann app is commissioned by Film and Video Umbrella. Image courtesy of Dundee Contemporary Arts
