

Helen Russell Brown / Katharina Grosse
Plant-based cuisine for a painter's studio

£14.00

Every day at lunch-time, the team at Studio Katharina Grosse takes the time to sit down together and share plant-based family-style dishes.

After one year of daily dining the studio's British chef, Helen Russell Brown, and the German artist, Katharina Grosse decided to create a book to share their food journey and inspire us.

In this beautiful small pocket cookbook with a very unusual, partially hand-crafted binding, they have compiled an assortment of their most loved flavours and techniques on themed recipe spreads, juxtaposing them with behind-the-scenes photographs taken at Katharina Grosse's studio spaces.

Each themed recipe spread offers colourful and delicious meals that can be made at home, with fold-out pages containing additional dishes, information or tips: a toolkit for building your own mouth-watering combinations of tastes and textures.
