

“The game of life is a lot like football. You have to tackle your problems, block your fears, and score your points when you get the opportunity.”

Lewis Grizzard

The Football Cultural Calendar 2016 £15

It's like music the austere Samuel Beckett is meant to have said when watching the 1970 World Cup final between Brazil and Italy (4:1). There we have it: Football can be enjoyed and, if you want, also be revered as an art form. Representatives of art and literature have long since stopped hiding their love of football they had previously kept secret.

The Football Cultural Calendar 2016 offers football enjoyment far away from stadiums and TV screens. It features articles from the worlds of art, fashion, architecture and design, along with words of wisdom from famous contemporaries, photographic 'snapshots' as well as texts, diagrams, statistics, and cartoons.

This calendar is intended to accompany enthusiastic fans and educated citizens with a love of sport through the European Championship year. Printed with a high-quality finish and lovingly designed, it has all manner of surprises. Football fans ought to have it, people with an interest in culture anyway.

Artists include: Stephan Balkenhol, Rosemarie Trockel, Stefan Banz, and Mark Wallinger, among many others.

English and German text.
