

Marcel Broodthaers

Marcel Broodthaers was a poet, photographer, filmmaker and artist, and throughout his career he challenged the role of the artwork, the artist and the art institution.

Considered to be one of the most important artists of the last century, Broodthaers' work and thinking is highly influential on many artists working today.

The exhibition (the most comprehensive display of the artist's work in the UK for almost 30 years) and this catalogue explore the diversity of Broodthaers' practice including books, editions, objects, projections and paintings and feature several works never seen in the UK before.

Published on the occasion of the exhibition at Milton Keynes Gallery, 25 January – 30 March 2008.
