

Rachel Rose

£29.95

In recent years, Rachel Rose has quickly risen to prominence for her compelling video installations and films.

In her work, the artist often explores how our relationship to landscape, storytelling and belief systems around mortality are inseparably linked to one other. Through multiple subject matter she questions what it is that makes us human and how we seek to alter and escape that designation.

This catalogue is published on the occasion of Rose's first large-scale solo exhibitions in Germany and France, presenting a selection of her video installations and a new series of sculptures at the Fridericianum, Kassel, and at the Lafayette Anticipations, Paris.
