

Georgina Starr

£16.95

essays by Susan Corrigan, Thomas Lawson, Eva Meyer-Hermann, James Roberts, Daniel Robinson.

Through this new commission young British artist Georgina Starr draws together a variety of her ideas and techniques to create Tuberama. Part musical, part train journey, part cartoon, this mix of songs, animation, model trains and painting takes you on a trip to a world where the fantastic is only just around the corner. This lively and colourful book – brilliantly reminiscent of the Blue Peter annual – examines different aspects of Starr's work and includes images of previous work.
