

Romuald Hazoumè Beninese Solidarity with Endangered Westerners

£19

The shifting of the term 'post-colonial' to a fundamental critique of the modern knowledge system and of the unifying discourse of Western rationalism results in modernity being qualified as a determining element.

At present we are observing the emergence of an art that lays claim to global contemporaneity without borders or history. The origin of an artist is relativised, and the question that becomes key is where an artist finds his/her audience.

Seven projects by African artist, Romuald Hazoumè are closely documented in this catalogue. In his attempt to reverse deadlocked circumstances, the Benin artist makes a unique contribution to the post-colonial discourse.

Published on the occasion of the exhibition at Kunsthaus Graz, Austria, 22 September 2013 – 12 January 2014.

English, German and French text.
